Art on the Walls

By Jillian Troupe
& Marilyn Page

Mrs. Wilson assigned some art work and she put them up on the walls and they look really good. The first grade monsters were about their personalities. The line for a walk was to teach the 5 graders how to use shapes and colors! Also the first grade monsters choose 3 different colors and 3 different shapes! The fifth graders did the same thing. The first grade monsters are easy and fun. The line for a walk was a lot harder than the monsters.

Types of Drills

By Jillian Troupe

To help everyone understand all the drills, I will explain them all. The first and most important is the lock down drill, the kids are supposed to get out of sight, stay quiet, and DO NOT open the door. If you are in the main halls, look for an open door. Other teaches will look out there door and if you are in the bathroom get to the nearest classroom as fast as possible. The second one is the fire drill. The kids have to get out doors, get in a line, and stay quiet. You have to stay quiet because the teachers have to make sure everyone is there and if you are in the bathroom try to find a door to get outside.
